BRAND INFORMATION

01

WHO WE ARE

MINDSET is a new, non-clinical men's mental wellbeing and personal growth charity, based in London and working across the UK. We help men build resilience and grow into healthier versions of themselves — and we're changing public perception of men's mental health along the way.

OUR MODEL

Action, challenge, and real-world connection. Men move, open up, and support each other through shared experience — not a therapy session. Practical, stigma-free, genuinely enjoyable. We help men thrive, not just cope.

THE PROBLEM WITH EXISTING SERVICES

- Most mental health services are clinical, sit-down, talk-only.
- Men disengage from soft, therapy-coded visual language.
- Stigma keeps men from seeking support in the first place.

WHO WE ARE NOT

We are not a clinical, sit-down, talk-only service. We are not stiff, stigmatised, or afraid to have a laugh. We are not soft, passive, or hard to engage with — men don't respond to that. We are not just another wellness brand asking men to sit and talk about their feelings.

PERSONALITY

- Strong — not soft or clinical
- Supportive — without being twee
- Modern & practical
- Stigma-free, has heart and humour
- Community / movement, not a service

MECHANISMS

- Social Media Platforms
- Events
- Workshops
- In-person meetups

A NOTE FROM THE DESIGNER

This proposal covers a logo redesign and a branding system for the MINDSET charity. If there is something you would like to add or something that doesn't align with MINDSET's vision or tone, please contact me and I can work to rectify it.

Thanks a bunch for providing this opportunity and helping me gain experience and demonstrate my abilities.

CURRENT LOGO

02

WHY CHANGE?

- Reads clinical, not action — the all-blue gradient palette sits very close to healthcare and NHS-style branding, with no warmth or energy to signal action and movement.
- Gradients reinforce the soft/corporate feel — beyond the colour itself, the heavy use of gradients throughout gives it a “wellness app” look rather than a confident, standalone brand mark.
- Too intricate to scale or reproduce — the shattered element is made up of many small, individually shaded shards; at small sizes, in print, or embroidered on uniforms, this will likely blur into an indistinct blue smudge.
- Balance needs tightening — the tagline currently sits centred and disconnected from the wordmark rather than aligned to it. Mind’s logo is a good reference: tagline, type, and mark are all proportioned and aligned together, with space to breathe.
- Too literal, not enough personality — the M for the charity name, the circling arrow for renewal, and the shattered pieces for the broken mind each make sense individually, but stacked together the mark reads more like an infographic explaining itself than a distinctive symbol.

PROPOSED LOGO

03

Reverse image search conducted; no similar existing logos identified. Not a substitute for formal trademark clearance.

WHY THIS SYMBOL?

- A mountain/peak is a universal metaphor for challenge and progress — fits a men's wellbeing charity without being clinical.
- The circle around it suggests wholeness, support — the individual held within a community.
- The varied weight of the circle flows with the weight of triangle, emphasising the peak.
- Rounding the edges on the triangle makes it feel more inviting.

WHY THIS LAYOUT?

- Icon-and-wordmark side by side works well for a clean, professional charity brand across digital and print use.
- The icon is compact to work alone as a favicon/app icon, while the wordmark adds clarity for first-time viewers.

WHY THIS COLOUR PALETTE?

- Navy conveys trust, stability, and calm — appropriate for a mental wellbeing charity.
- Yellow adds warmth, optimism, and energy, which balances the seriousness of the navy.
- The split colour visually separates the two halves of the word, adding a subtle conceptual layer — the "mind" (introspective, calm) and the "set" (action, energy).

WHY THIS TYPEFACE?

- A bold, geometric sans-serif feels confident and modern — approachable rather than corporate.
- Strong, blocky letters reflect strength and reliability — values the charity wants to project.

BRAND COMPARISON

05

The MINDSET logo is distinct when compared to similar brands.

BRANDING GUIDELINES & LOGO USE

ON THE WEB

07

MINDSET FAVICON

Favicon is 32px x 32px, displayed in browser next to url, and does not need any adjustments to fit.

SOCIAL MEDIA AVATARS

The avatars should not be altered unless there is a special event, holiday or seasonal change, for example, Men's Mental Health Day.

DEVICE ICON

If the website has been added to homescreen of a mobile device or a future application is created, a 192px x 192px will be displayed.

Note: If your open to licensing a typeface we can find some other options.

IMAGERY

10

Imagery should feel lived-in, not staged — men in motion, connected through action rather than conversation alone. It should evoke challenge and personal growth with community.

ENERGY & CONNECTION

- Positive energy (smiling faces, warm, relaxed)
- Group activities (boxing, running, trekking, etc)
- Eye contact for connection
- Diversity of age and background, consistently engaged

SETTING & SYMBOLISM

- Mountains signify stability and challenge
- Men in motion (walking, running, active)
- Natural light and real locations (authenticity)
- Warm and earthy tones

GRAPHICS

11

The graphics should include elements from the logo. For example, you can create a mountainscape with the rounded triangles to signify challenge and growth. See business card for reference.

MORE DESIGN EXAMPLES

SOCIAL MEDIA POST SIZES

Instagram post sizes should follow:

Portrait Posts 1080 × 1350

Landscape Posts 1080 × 566

Stories and Reels 1080 × 1920

Keep the posts simple and low amount of text; to the point, personal and on brand — thought provoking questions or humourous statements will garner attention. Any extra information can be added in the description, for example, how to join; the website link; what programmes are offered.

MERCH (HATS & T-SHIRTS)

Gives members an opportunity to show support for the charity and spread awareness.
